“Green” Maghrebi Lentil & Bread Stew

---

Here are 5 different ways to view the execution of this recipe. Choose the one that fits your cooking style best.

---

Format 1: The “Mise-en-place” & Execution Flow

---

Best for: Ensuring you have everything ready before you start the heat.

Mise-en-place:

- The Bread: 1/2 Sourdough Loaf (cubed into 1-inch pieces).
- Aromatics: 1 large Onion (diced), 3 cloves Garlic (minced).
- Flavor Base: 2 tbsp Tomato Paste, 2 tbsp Fig Spread.
- Spices: 1 tsp Cumin, 1 tsp Coriander, 1/2 tsp Cinnamon.
- Liquids: 1 can (28oz) Crushed Tomatoes, 4 cups Water (or Broth).
- The Bulk: 1 cup Brown/Green Lentils (rinsed).
- The Finish: 1 large bag Spinach or Chard, 1 Lemon (juiced), Sour Cream, Fresh Dill.

Execution:

1. Toast: Bake bread cubes at 400°F until bone dry and golden (15-20m).
  2. Sweat: Sauté onion in olive oil until soft (5-8m). Add garlic for 1m.
  3. Deepen: Add tomato paste & spices. Fry until paste darkens (2-3m).
  4. Simmer: Add lentils, water/broth, crushed tomatoes, and fig spread. NO SALT YET. Simmer covered until lentils are tender (25-30m).
  5. Finish: Stir in salt, lemon juice, and greens until wilted.
  6. Stew: Turn off heat. Fold in toasted bread. Let sit 10m.
  7. Serve: Top with sour cream and fresh dill.

Format 2: The “Flavor Layers” (Step-by-Step Build)

---

Best for: Understanding the sequential build-up of flavors.

1. TEXTURE Layer: Roast the sourdough cubes in the oven first. We want them super dry so they soak up the stew without disintegrating into mush.
  2. AROMATIC Layer: Sauté onions and garlic. This provides the sweet, savory backbone.
  3. SPICE Layer: Fry the tomato paste with cumin, coriander, and cinnamon. This “blossoms” the spices and caramelizes the sugars in the paste for depth.
  4. EARTH Layer: Simmer the lentils with the crushed tomatoes and fig spread. The fig adds a hidden sweetness that mimics North African tagines.
Crucial: No salt or acid yet, or the lentils won’t soften properly.
  5. FRESH Layer: Once lentils are soft, hit it with salt, lemon juice (acid), and the fresh greens.
  6. UNION Layer: Fold the dry bread into the wet stew off the heat. The bread drinks up the liquid, thickening the stew and becoming dumpling-like.

Format 3: The “Chef’s Shorthand” (Tactical)

---

Best for: Quick glances while cooking.

- Roast bread cubes @ 400F till dry.
  - Sweat onion in oil.
  - Pincé (fry) tomato paste w/ garlic & spices.
  - Deglaze w/ crushed tomatoes, water, fig spread.
  - Simmer lentils in liquid (covered) till tender (25m).
  - Season w/ S&P, Lemon Juice.
  - Wilt greens into pot.
  - Fold in bread. OFF HEAT. Rest 10m.
  - Garnish w/ Sour Cream & Dill.

Format 4: The “Timeline” (Parallel Processor)

Best for: Optimization and multi-tasking.

Time	Action	Notes
T-45	Oven 400F	Cube bread. Put in oven.
T-40	Prep Veggies	Dice onion, mince garlic. Rinse lentils.
T-30	Stove ON	Sauté onions.
T-25	Check Bread	Remove if golden/dry. Set aside.
T-22	Fry Paste	Add garlic, paste, spices to pot. Fry 2m.
T-20	Simmer	Add liquids, lentils, fig spread. Cover.
T-05	Prep Garnish	Chop dill. Mix w/ sour cream if desired.
T-00	Finish	Lentils tender? Add salt, lemon, greens.
+2m	The Fold	Stir in bread. Heat OFF.
Serve	Eat	Serve after 10m rest.

Format 5: The “Sensory Script” (Audio-Visual)

Best for: Cooking by feel and intuition.

- TOUCH: Bread should feel rock hard and dry coming out of the oven.
- SMELL: When frying the paste/spices, wait for the “toasted spice” smell to fill the kitchen (approx 2 mins).
- LOOK: The tomato paste should turn from bright red to a rusty brick color.
- TASTE: Taste the lentils before adding salt. They should be creamy inside, not chalky.
- TASTE: After adding lemon and fig spread, the broth should be a balance of savory, deep sweet, and bright acid.
- LOOK: When you fold in the bread, it will look like too much bread. Wait 10 mins, and it will look like a thick, cohesive stew.
